GET REAL NEWS - AT LAST!

O.O. Times and ABERRANT Join Forces in a Crusade for Trews GET ME OUTTA HERE!

Eighteen months ago Britons voted decisively to leave Europe to the experts. At last debates over the shape of the newly envisioned Brexetia have begun to separate the dross from the chaff. In going back to basics, the Mother of All Parliaments has been addressing pressing issues of consuming long-term interest to the nation at large. The non-existent Reports on the effects of Brexit on 58 Sectors of the non-existent economy have been temporarily shelved on non-existent sheves, because as the Chief Neg explained 'they would have been wrong anyway - just look at what happened in 2008! We were elected on our platform that the British public has already had quite enough of experts' Parliamentarians can now return to issues of more consuming national interest: like whether Lord Ebb-Fount (92) did indeed caress the knees of his 19 year old intern, Miss Jacinta Wiles. Lord Ebb-Fount, an eminent life peer, has maintained throughout his experience of Ms Wiles that all contact was strictly consensual and that Miss Wiles had always evinced a refreshing interest in the opposite sex. Miss Wiles has claimed a complete breakdown in her faith in British democracy. After a flurrie of #MeToo revelations, the Prime Minister has come down firmly on the side of the perpetrated-upons and has set out guidelines for the party's conduct. "We cannot be expected to carry on an intelligent debate when parliament is running amok with randy old goats. So we won't even try!" All parties have drawn up Rosters of Infamy which focus on the peccadillos of the opposing side of the house. What emerges is a pattern of unremitting depravity and covert licentiousness that dates back to the Roman Invasion proving that yet again perfidious Europe is the source of unconscionable continental ways.

A heated debate however, has been undertaken under a three line whip during which it was motioned that interns should be required to wear knee protection in the presence of older parliamentarians.

Only Vice-Person-in-Chief

BoJo has been able to maintain a dignified prime ministerial distance and remains 'unfingered and without blemish' or 'sine macula et non digitabilis' as he prefers to style it. On the other hand Android Leaden, lieder of the HOC claims she has experienced continual discomfort from the gummy hands of lubricious parliamentarians throughout her career. Predictably, Jacob Rees-Moggie came down firmly on the side of prophylactic safety standards.

'Touching each other up is not very British. I lament that Parliament has become a hotbed of deviant floccinaucinihillpillificating behaviour. But I can put the blame firmly where it belongs ... in the importation of Eurohabits, like the current fashion of Euro-kissing on both cheeks. Our MP's are naturally uncomfortable with these imported customs and simply don't know where to stop. The sooner we achieve a chastening hard Brexit the sooner we can bring the curtain down on Euro-affectations. People must learn that the only thing that they should be touching up is their computer screens.'

A Queen Boudicca Style Brexit

Many Brexiteers derive inspiration from the legendary Queen Boudicca who led a campaign against European interference in an effort to remove economic migrants flooding in from all parts of the Roman Empire. These foreigners were taking jobs from the hard working, tax-paying patriots or Icenii as they styled themselves. Boudicca stopped at nothing and she took no prisoners. In many ways she has inspired modern parliamentarians who have adopted a similar scorched earth policies to counter Euro-perfidy. She would have none of that 'Eurotrash' as she called them and promptly dispatched them on flaming crosses (she was a devout Druid from whom the Christians ultimately picked up so many of their quaint mediaeval customs)

Nor did she let London, with all its wealth and Roman insider dealing stand in her way, being quite content to raze it to the ground and destroy every living creature, in the most chivalric pre-Christian possible way.

Two thousand years later British archaeologists are observing the thick layers of red pulverised soil and the serried ranks of skulls of dispatched expats in the Walbrook.

As legend has it, Boudicca was buried with full Brexit honours between Platforms 9 and 10 in Kings Cross Station, the Gateway to the North and fast becoming a place of modern pilgrimage. Pointedly her loved ones did not choose entombment at the recently closed St Pancras International across the street.

It's OUR Heritage !!

Brexitian Parliamentarians have reacted with outrage at the European proposal to 'enshrine' the English language as one of the official languages for doing business in the European Union. European English is usually spoken with a dumbed-down Beano vocabulary and preposterous accents. Morrigan Derful-Gwythyr, the conservative member for Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwllllantysili who led the campaign against a Brussels backed plot to subsidise Welsh Patriots' farms, has excoriated the idea. "It is just another perfidious Euro-plot to attract American high net worth gulls and move the English speaking business community from London to Paris. How would they feel if we turned the tables on them and made the language of Westminster some sort of Walloon Numpty?"

Falconry Returns to Aber!

Interest is widespread in a Dutch Police programme for training eagles to bring down surveillance drones around airports in the Netherlands. Welsh entrepreneurs have been quick to spot a market opportunity well-tuned to Brexetian priorities and the Green Valleys are once again providing some of the finest eagle training and falconry centres in the world. There are other unforeseen spin-offs however. Her Majesty's Brexetian government is reviewing the potential to deploy an Aguilar Security force to address the growing problem of drones buzzing in and out of HM's prisons conveying drugs and candy. It is also examining other advantages in stanching the leaky borders where drones are being employed to undermine the benefits of Hard Brexit by delivering foreign made materials and foodstuffs into the heartland without paying swingeing tariffs. American drone manufacturers however have been only too quick to respond by equipping their latest drones with heat seeking 'air torpedos'. (The right to weaponize drones has been enshrined in the 2nd Amendment by the prescient founding fathers)

As far away as Europe, the Dutch, have flagged up growing concerns that the streets of Amsterdam are becoming littered with the eviscerated remains of Canada Geese and hang-gliders, claiming that this is a Brexetian initiative to deter tourism. Another market that the Welsh Aguilars seek to open up is among Celebrities who take intimate selfies for private enjoyment only to find them pulsating across the social media following a drone invasion. In its December issue Elle Magazine foresees that a bird of prey will become the latest must-have accoutrement, eclipsing even pugs and babes-in-and-on-arms.

Both stars and Royals are increasingly being seen in public proudly bearing such anti-drone protection, all proudly born and bred in Welsh Brexetia.

Celebrating 500 Years of Indulgences

500 Years ago Martin Luther nailed it! - his 95 Theses to a church door in Wittenberg. He questioned the Papal capacity in running the Celestial Piggy Bank which granted time off from Purgatory in exchange for hard cash rendered here on earth. Otherwise those sins committed here on earth had to be expiated in a giant Gitmo in the sky, and few were inclined to opt for that avenue. Luther questioned the notion that Salvation had to be 'earned' by a good life. He saw it more as a 'celestial freebie'. (article 43) But since then everybody has turned their backs on Luther in a mad scurry to get into the indulgence racket again. On our modern media sites, minutes rarely pass without encouragement to loosen up and 'indulge yourself'.

Indeed the new world order is based on a democratisation of indulgence, a success story that the uncouth Luther, whom few were inclined to indulge, would have been hard pressed to recognise. Five centuries later in this era of zenith self-gratification the global order has been reconstructed around the notions of self-indulgence. Lists of the 1000 most important gotta-do experiences, or the 1000 most important gotta-see films or the 1000 most important gotta-go places to visit before checking out, pervade our media. At last we can undertake all our painful confessions here on earth resorting new Facebook Apps like 'Mea Maxima Culpa'.

Wormonaut Probe Disturbing Developments

Odessa's local farmers met this evening at ShellLube to discuss a growing threat from 'lumbricus terrestris modificandis' or genetically modified worms which are thought to have inadvertently entered the food chain and are emerging as a primate species in the Odessa area. These worms, dubbed 'wormonauts' have been specially designed by NASA as an advance guard in projects to colonise out-of-the-way planets like Mars. As envisioned they would provide a sustainable basis for viable a food chain. Because of uncertain reception on the host planet, wormonauts have been 'weaponised' and genetically enhanced with natural body armour to meet resistance from alien species which may be resistant territorial incursion. NASA 'wormonauts' are designed to be capable of ingurgitating volcanic rock and some strains can even chew through concrete, rendering it a viable crop sustenance media within days. While this may all sound win-win for a terrestrial roll-out of the new stock, certain other drawbacks have been flagged up by scientists. Because the lumbricus f.m. is designed to out compete all other local species, among its panoply of weaponry it boasts deadly venomous glands which have been introduced from the 'crapus crassula colombiana', a tree toad which local Amazonians employ to cause mass extinction in rival tribes.

Perhaps it is precisely this ability to survive that has resulted in wormonaut incursions in the Odessa area. NASA has innumerable capsules of enhanced L.F.M's orbiting through space, acclimatising themselves to interplanetary travel. It appears that one of these capsules may have de-orbited and re-entered the atmosphere. Though the capsule would have been instantly atomised, it is thought that the armoured L.F.M contents may have survived the intense 5000 °C heat generated at re-entry.

SECS and Comfort Corridors

In these days of growing sectarian division and inter-communitarian strife there is a growing demand for designated safe space within our cities. Our Universities and institutions of higher learning were among the pioneers of this concept taking strong steps to exclude those who might espouse contrarian or uncomfortable opinions. Controversial figures like Germaine Greer and the Grand Mufti of Al Ahzar have been firmly denied a public platform to spew their venom.

Other purveyors of 'fake news' are expected to follow in a growing popular movement to rein in a press that has run amok with an endless litany of 'things not quite right'

Out of concern for your safety, your ever-proactive Odessa City Council has announced the creation of a Comfort Corridor in which safety-minded citizens can chillax without being confronted by ugly 'reality' views. All individuals who espouse neo-liberal, illiberal, or in fact any views at all, will be banned from entering this protected zone.

Your Comfort Corridor will be specially landscaped to screen passers-by from the nadirs of city life such as rough sleepers, sex shops and out-of-control advertisements. C.C's will be planted with charming focal points and be bathed in reinforcing 'feel good' music, while cleansing perfumes waft through the limpid air.

Knee Pads for Civil Servants
Help to Repel Unwanted Peers

The latest in repurposed statues imported from Minsk will provide reinforcing insights into our illustrious past.

Eligible citizens will be carefully vetted as suitable participants in the Safe Zone scheme and issued with Safe Enjoyment Cards (SEC's). These will be issued to individuals only after rigorous apathy training has been undertaken and a candidate has reached at least Level 2 Apathy Certification.

The Mayor's Office explains 'The Safe Zone addresses a modern reality. Everywhere we are witnessing individuals who are exercising their putative right to be obnoxious. Who needs this?'

"After all we ensure that all vehicles are roadworthy, and their drivers meet minimal basic criteria and are able to abide by the rules which have been written by God knows who. There is little difference from our Safe Zone Concept ensuring that socially compliant citizens can travel through our public spaces unmolested by ugliness and divisive reality opinions.'

'We will enforce a zero tolerance for all the Liberal Intolerance inflaming our cities of today.'

Costume Bans

Following the Quebec Legislature's ban on the niqab in public service areas, people across the land have become sensitised to politically incorrect costume choices. Odessans too, are affirming their Canadian values when they choose suitable garb for festive moments. Traditional Hallowe'en costumes are being discouraged in many schools because they elicit inappropriate connotations. It is difficult to differentiate traditional ghost costumes which too often suggest overtones of KKK membership. Any mask that covers the face can lead to soon to anti-social deviance.

Modern Parents must work hard to avoid attracting attention of the Costume Police

Skeleton outfits are considered to be cruel indictments of those who are experiencing problems with obesity. Even Disney princesses, once thought to be aspirational role models for young girls are now seen as statements pandering to the approbation of the 1%

Mine Coal - Not Data!

We hanker for the good ole times when 'chicks were chicks and men were miners'. Visionary leaders, want to return to the 'Your Fired' simplicities of the past, stripping away the remaining vestiges of namby-pamby, neo-liberal, political correctitudinousness and so-called 'facts'. However, in these more complex modern times mining has switched from a focus on coal to mining data. That is where all the money is - (and that, by the way is where all the chicks have gone)

HardBrisket-AbeRRally

Industrious locals are weaving Protest Scarves

Plucky Welsh farmers never asked to be dependent on European handouts and have intensely resented the Eutrophication of the food markets that has resulted. As a result they have voted firmly for endorsing the hardest Brisket possible. Morrigan Rhys-Moggs who is organising a protest rally in Abergavenny, styled the AbeRRally explains, "We didn't go into Europe so that Daisy could put her hooves up. We are now coming together to reject all those Euro-handouts. What we want to see is nothing less than a revolution in our foodie values and a radical reduction in product food miles whereby ALL of our crops are home grown. We have got to wean our population off Eurotrash and come to recognise the virtues of crop security and buying local. We have also got to learn to pay a fair price for our local leeks, potatoes and leeks as well as our leeks and be thankful that we can get them at all, if we can. Under the Euro-CAP Welsh potatoes were selling for peanuts. We want to return to those good old days when people would queue proudly for miles to buy Brexetian. Life can be a whole lot simpler without a load of foreign produce cluttering our shelves." Across the country we predict a whole new obsession with sourcing food.

Compromising Pix Epidemic Thwarted by Google

When Australian singer Sia Furler began to flood the social media with nude pictures of herself in response to a blackmail threat, many thought that this was just another sun-addled Aussie publicity stunt. However a group of enterprising Macedonian teenagers has managed to leap onto the bandwagon and transform the idea into an award winning APP, now being marketed across the Big Four social platforms that control the modern psyche.

The modern globalised world has become so pervasive and all-consumedly dire that many people respond in the only way they can think of - by posting nude pictures of themselves to one and other. But what happens when Russian trolls get hold of your intimate records, as they will inevitably do?

Well, the folks at REVELLA.com based in tiny landlocked Skopje, think they have an answer. They have won the coveted Google's BIM-Wippe prize for the most ingenious start-up of 2017! The brainchild of an altruistic Macedonian teenager, Griegorina Mendacitlev, a reformed hacker who wanted to draw a line under the incursions of Russian spooks in this field. Griegorina, who apprenticed in a Kasperski troll factory in Kiev, explains 'Uncle Vlad already has all the nude pix he could possibly need. They not very cute. Now we make worth Less.'

Griegorinovna Mendacitalev eyes a close future collaboration with Google

Here's how her brilliant scheme works. So you happen to be a world-famed celebrity, or perhaps just an aesthetically challenged teen who is keen to make something of his/her only redeeming asset? - well you just download our APP at REVELLA.com. Whenever you take pictures that could potentially cause you future shame and email them to a loved one, you simultaneously send a copy to REVELLA. There it will be digitised and filed away as a numerical cipher, encrypted using Apple's unassailable technology.

Skilled operatives at REVELLA dedicate themselves tirelessly 24/7 to combing the media identifying potential sources of blackmail. When you are contacted in a case of revenge porn, REVELLA springs into action and floods the cyberwaves with such a plethora of alternative facts and blended fake news/ views that your viewing public soon loses interest. In cases of more specific blackmail REVELLA undertakes the negotiation on your behalf by supplying a vortex of ever more compromising imagery which blows the P'razzi-Pimps out of the water. The victim then shares a substantial percentage of the royalties in this out-manoeuvring strategy. World leaders should appreciate that REVELLA also offers a platinum tailored VVIPER service. It is well known that the Gremlin holds vast files of prurient data assiduously collected over years of sting operations. If your political career hangs by a thread at the mercy of the Lachesis of the Gremlin, you can take proactive action now and flood the media with ever more compromising photos which will render the Gremlin stash staid and valueless. Google takes its mission as custodian of the world's privacy VERY, VERY seriously. These unprincipled and prurient invasions have become big business and nobody until now has come up with an effective strategy for profiting from them.

OMG - Joined Up Culture is Like So Passé

Todays Youth seek a more discombobuated life experience

Schools around the world are fighting a losing battle to develop what was once considered the cornerstone of a good education – cursive Handwriting. There is just no demand for joined up thinking anymore! Even personal signatures are being replaced by voice print and iris recognition technology.

Places which boast the world's most progressive educational systems as far flung as Finland and India have dropped handwriting from the curricula. Meanwhile the North American system which is still cot up in flat earth and creationist debate lags far bee-hind. Communication nowadays is all about speed in executing 144 character outbursts of rage and vilification. Nobody has time for joined up anything. Besides, these daze there's nobody around can lend you a pen neither. Education is all about multiple choices so there are no correct answers.

The Education Minister in Helsinki Jukka-Pekka Seratoninaskopekci laments that almost nobody can spell his last name. He recently addressed the annual writers Pen conference in Putinograd. "In the Finish system we promote Ambithumbsterousness" as a skill to promote rapid response in an ever-accelerating world were you have to parade an opinion on the spur of the moment. We're just not into joined up anything."

"We adamantly do not encourage our students to express themselves in archaic elitist manner especially in cases where your handwriting gives a telling insight into your education and position in society." The anti handwriting movement has paid an unexpectedly big dividend in practically eliminating dylsexia as a scourge of modren dchooling. Intuition and Spelch-X work hand in glove to ensure that your message gets out there front and centre, like you want."

North American educationalizts are gradually following suit. Under the aegis of the Secretary of Edufication Hevenstoo Betsy, they are coming to see the wisdom of rationing their product and targeting funds to where they will be most effective. Joined up thought is not in demand so it's just not on the curriculum. Conservative Church leaders concur. "Even Jesus wasn't bigly into writing and he got most of his stuff printed out-of-house. Perhaps every now and then, like with the woman taken in adultery, he would scribble a little conundrum in the sand – but he was generally way too busy for joined up handwriting. On the other hand others see the downside, "Just think, if he'd kept journal it would be worth a mint theseadays."

Some American backwaters which are clinging to old ways and refusing to surrender recidivists to Feral officers) may be blacklisted by the DOTUS and have their educational budgets slashed until they fall into line. DOTUS supporters in the Base continue to rally in support of his determination to rationalise education.

Spokesman Troy Chuckster explains, "People around here are not bigly into joined-up anything, unless yer talking the NRA".

And so from afar, we at the Odessa School board must sit back and ponder "Wither Education?"

Salvator Mundi - Just What We All Need Now

Hunnish naysayers claim that Leonardo shirked on his rendition of the crystal ball

The latest Da Vinci to go under the hammer at Christies in New Yurk achieved almost half a billion dollars. Yet the painting was bought for a mere $45 from a penniless count whose family had been gifted it by Charles II. It was spotted in the back of a tinkers trolley by renowned Russian oligarch Dmitry Robotolev, the owner of RosFert, the Fertiliser giant that has become a household word around the world. Subsequently certified by acclaimed art expert Samoht Eil-Riaf it has has undergone extensive restoration removing 5 centuries of ill-advised overpainting.

Who thought that a Da Vinci Masterpiece lurked under this much-overpainted portrait of Pope Sixtus IV?

Many had sought to improve upon Leonardo's perfection, but eventually lost the plot. Some art experts have questioned the authenticity of this work, pointing out the unconventional cropping and the fact that the crystal globe is actually a non-refracting Christmas tree bauble. Others have derided the vapid expression and lack of pre-frontal capacity evident in the Saviour - pointing out that he is rather narrow shouldered to bear the burden of all our sins. Eil-Riaf however explains that Leo was merely working with a plank that he had knocking about the studio and so had adjusted the layout accordingly. "Leo was bigly into enigma as evidenced here. I admit that he could have done a better job dotting the eyes, but he did at least cross his T". Christies has quashed all doubts with vigorous legal action. "The genius of Leonardo was in always doing something bewitching. Indeed this masterpiece evidences the levered spatula and the divine kaleidoscope intertwined. The blank stare and pupil-less eyes enhance a transcendental hypertension. The 'Made in Japan' inscription emblazoned on the bauble reveals Da Vinci at his most prescient. The lucky bidder is Crown Prince Mohamad Bin Salman who has recently been canvassing 159 members of his extended family at a camping jamboree in the Riyadh Ritz for funds to top up on family cultural initiatives.

At the Antiques Roadshow in Newton Byward Picie Pillpot is astonished to learn that she too has another authentic DaVinci

Brexit Means ... well ... BREXIT !!!

Ours At Last !- and All Paid For !

First they wanted us to cut down our apple trees, and then out of jealousy they demanded we get rid of our havens, attempting to strike at the very core of Britishness.

M. Pompelier Barnier-Souffle the chief negotiator of Euro-Neg the negotiating team arguing the E-side for E-jexit explains "The E-Project is intensivement democratique! We believe that E should stand for E-gregious, E-quality and E-ternity. No one has a right to be happier than his neighbours, we just want everybody to be Trés Normal! Let's leave the pursuit of happiness to the A-mericans - look where it's getting them!"

At least Brexit means Brexitian Grass for Brexitian Sheep, the proud claim of the pro-Brexit Farmers Association of Greater Brexetia. "For too long our sheep have had to gag down foreign trash in feed lots. And then when the time comes to terminate their E-Contract, they are shipped off to sleazy E-Dispatch centres and rebranded as 'E-Cert lamb'.

Statue Mania

Around the world people are growing fed up with a diet of old history featuring dastardly deeds of out-of-control dead men. Increasingly we are waking up to demand a purge of old place names commemorating rapacious villains and slave traders, mostly Defunct White Perfidious Euros (DWIPES). Statues are being ripped from their pedestals, public buildings and philanthropic bequests are being rebranded, and streets of our cities sanitised and reimaged. With so many statues of scurrilous philanthropists being repurposed, entrepreneurs in Minsk have been snapping them up and changing their hats to illuminate previously unknown chapters in local history. This has developed into a world-wide campaign for political-correction. In Abergavenny a new monument commemorating the contribution of 'Lil Abber' to the unseating of an unwanted DWIPE has been erected in the recently renamed Blossom Street. In Odessa, many retro-feminists are demanding greater celebration of local "Sheroes" and the statue to Adie Flingstrom in front of ShellLube, which some have unkindly dubbed Barbie in a Burqa, is an example of how an interesting history of one of Odessa's previously unknown yet most illustrious jam makers can suddenly come to light.

Aberites Celebrate the erection of a statue commemorating the Famed Welsh Horse "Lil Abber" which has been installed in recently renamed Blossom Street.

Grynych-Hector Report Findings

It is what parents have suspected all along! Children who have too many toys are more easily distracted and have reduced attention spans in comparison those who live in poverty and must make do with a tin can and string. Childhood studies at the University of Toledo, Ohio, have noted that the typical toddler has on average 238 toys to manage. The number of toys proves inversely related to the encouragement of childhood imagination. The Brexetian Government's independent Grynych-Hector inquiry has proposed that all children should be issued with the same basic toys to level the playing field in a country where up to 25% of children live in below the poverty line and are thought to be gaining unfair advantage in acquiring imaginative life skills. The Grynych-Hector Report chimes with the governments plans to roll out new austerity programmes across the school system to encourage greater interest in acquiring alternative life skills.

Dowsing for Water

In repatriating Brexetian education from foreign so-called 'expertise', statutory authorities are keen to impose a truly Brexit stamp on learning and resurrect some of our ancient skills and crafts to demonstrate greater respect for our Glory Days. Accordingly, a new Academy of Dowsing Arts will open in Abergavenny. This is following the recent revelation that many of the Brexetian Water Companies already employ this dying art and are currently desperate for new interns. The Druidic community in Wales has a long history of practice on the local ley lines and is spiritually attuned to the presence of underground currents.

ADA will prove particularly attuned to the post Brexit world. Rough statistics reveal that the average Brexiteenian uses up to 4.98 million litres of water a year, the equivalent of 130 full baths daily. Many of us have not the time for such indulgence, so it is clear that accounting abuses are occurring in the system. Most of the system dates back to Romano/Victorian times. The recently privatised water companies explain that it would be difficult and expensive to update the infrastructure because so much of it lies underground. Shareholders in these companies resent that in some cases moats and duck ponds have been filled without proper accounting procedures. 'Capability Brown and Bridgeman used to get away with murder.' Privatised water boards recommend a strategy for transferring the costs of water usage direct to the consumer to encourage more self-actualisation and frugality. The ADA will be an important step in helping equip the next generation with the skills needed to identify where water pilferage is occurring and help to level the swamp for all of us.

The Google Wammo Strikes Back

Following unexpected mayhem on the Macdonald-Cartier Autoroute, Google's futuristic self-driving bubble car is to be re-imagined as an armoured personnel conveyor. The move has followed an unfortunate accident in which a perky little Google Wammo on a trial run, conveying film mogul Astra Piggoon, became disoriented after being damaged by a reversing vehicle. It ran amok through the aisles of Newstrom Norbert. Being a driverless car, a damage suit has proven impossible to file and ultimately a grievance report had to be lodged with the manufacturer. A spokesman for Google explains: "We have had absolutely no problem with the intelligence designed to reside within our vehicle itself. Glitches that have occurred tend to result from outside human error, people backing into us or scattering debris in our path. The public need to be educated in how to respond to modern technology and learn to obey basic rules. As a result, we have chosen to redesign our new-release road-worthy offering as a more empowered people conveyancing vehicle which will overcome external sources of human error and give occupants maximum protection while cushioning them from the faulty judgements of numpties. Driverless cars are a natural development from the driverless governments that we have put in place around the world in recent years. Cocooned within their own self-support groups, people can seek respite from the follies and excesses of their neighbours.

Foulers Grammer-Crammer Tips: How 2 Spiel Proper-like!

Its not just a question of spieling it up proper-like, you half to go that extra mile and actually spell it proper 2. One handy rule to bear in mind is: 'I before E except after C' one of those pliesing little ditties which do so much to improve the literableness of the English language. While on the face of it this might seem like a wierd rule, it is always best to avoid fiegnig stupidity (though there are some among us who do no diegn to do so) Niether do you want to forfeit your reputation for punctilious corriectitudinousness. We must riegnite our historic pride in the English lingo and thusly can only rienforce in the most rienvigorating terms that this is importantissimo. Lick we're not talking chow mien here! So it is up to allovus to go take the riens. Assume control of the nuances of thier language and eschew all that's so evidently counterfiet. You gotta rienvest in your lietracie!. Wie should hardly nied to rieterate more than a few times that it is important to Spiel & Spell Proper-like!

N u k o p h i l i a

With the demythologising of the 'N' word and the expressed readiness of the DOTUS to embrace nuclear Armageddon as a compelling negotiating strategy, supporters have pointed out that he might be positioning himself to solve a lot of problems with a pre-emptive strike closer to home. Some of his deadliest enemies reside in the District of Columbia. Pointing the arsenal inwards is envisioned as an effective means of 'Draining the Swamp' once and for all. Following his much vaunted ECO trip (Epic Charm Offensive) to the Far East, the DOTUS may have come to appreciate the power of President Kim's favoured group Myrabong a group of hand-plucked maidens whose video performances usually culminate in a mushroom cloud over Washington. The ever-accelerating cycle of virtual outrage that characterises the modern press could be brought to an abrupt halt with even a minor intervention.

MEMORY FEETS

The DOTUS boasts one of the Greatest Memories of all Time. This, coupled with his frequently demonstrated 'unbelievable' I.Q, makes him a formidable Deal Maker. As a result there is a growing market for contraband D O T U S DNA. His core base are known to be illicitly gathering DNA in the form of stray hair and presidential speech expectorants in the hope of cloning commercial reproductions of their paragon. AND these chips off the old block command top dollar! It is even rumoured that Trump Industries may have major holdings in these start-ups. One group of enterprising genetic scientists, recently released from EPA duties, has focussed on the rust-belt town of Lackawanna. They propose to transform the defunct Bethlehem steel works (pictured) into a full scale Trumpland Theme Park where all of the staff will be comprised of DOTUS clones. "We want to put the full panoply of these legendary talents on display to demonstrate how DOTUS intelligence responds to every walk of life" Expectations are so high that a smokescreen has become necessary to allow an orderly rolling out of this unbelievably uge and tremendously classy theme park.

Attention All SC-UBER Drivers

Uber Drivers needed in the Kingston Frontenac area. Uber Choppers with international aviation licences paid top wage, Uber Drones for Amazoom/Congo/Limpopo delivery and Uber Subs for discreet delivery of unidentified material somewhere south of the border. Huge demand. All applicants considered Big cash rewards for those who make a virtue of discretion and a return journey.

Apathy Training Courses

Noted Think Tanks the British Research Institute and Goth Group Prothink

have argued for a pro-active approach in publishing lists of those who have attempted to sabotage the will of the Brexetian peoples.

Brexitans have spoken decisively and demanded an unflinching divorce from Europe whatever the cost. Universities are being contacted to determine which professors have been flagrantly subverting the ‘will of the people’ by airing Remoaner dissent. There are still many obtuse renegades who attempt to counter the compelling argument that ‘Brexid means Brexit.’ The proposed database will prove invaluable, allowing potential employers to assess the validity of potential employees’ views and determine their suitability for any advertised employment. Those who have developed a track record of strongly anti-democratic views may find themselves obliged to undertake extensive Apathy Training to achieve at least a Level 2 Certification prior to clearing their on-line record.

Sleeping Beauty to be Banned in Odessa Schools

Germaine Knix, mother of twins, Hector and Atila, who attend Mud Lake Primary, has registered a protest with the Odessa School Board calling for the immediate banning of Sleeping Beauty from her sons curriculum “This is narco-porn plain and simple! In my book it is NEVER acceptable for an unknown Prince, to kiss a woman when she is sleeping. Is this appropriate? did she consent? I think NOT!” “Kids are going to pick up all the wrong signals on social media as it is. Hec and Attaboy are already cruising the net all hours trying to locate sleeping women, and I lay the blame squarely where it belongs - on the school curriculum!”

Refugee Madness !

Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.

Perfidious Eurocrats are undoubtedly once-again rubbing their hands in glee as the British government has conceded that two major ‘camping facilities’ will need to be set up in the Folkestone area to contain the flood of migrants hoping to cross the channel for what they imagine to be a better life in Europe. The camp which once blighted Calais with thousands of would-be Brits streaming in from across Europe has now become an enclave of much sought-after holiday homes snapped up by British plutocrats. Those days of infamy have become a distant memory. Nevertheless the Brex-Servative government in Westminster can point with some satisfaction at the fact that due to their hard Brexit strategy, the long queues of lorries awaiting to gain access from Europe have never materialised. Indeed, demand for cross border transit is so low it has been possible to close the Eurotunnel entirely while the exact ownership boundary lines are being determined. PM in expectant BoJo, summoning a Churchillian composure maintains “We know a lot about tunnelling these days and we will not settle for one pecuniae less than the full value of our Brex-Tunnel contribution!” But so far I haven’t seen a sausage!”

SECRETS OF THE GORGON BLEU

Coming to grips with JAMS & NORMS

The British Prime Minister has made a virtue of deriving support from those she describes as the JAM’s, those who are Just-About-Managing. These have proven to be the backbone of her support, a social stratum that is so focussed on survival and how to put the next meal on the table that they have no time for dalliance with politics. They are quite prepared to leave that to the experts. Brexetians take immense pride in their political acumen, smugly pointing out the reprehensible behaviour of a large tranche of trans-Atlantic society which the current DOTUS has been able to exploit as his power base. Over there they are known familiarly as NORM’s, or the Not-Really-Managing who have proven time and time again to have far too much time on their hands allowing them to roam the country supporting his feel-good jamborees.

BURPS – Biomorphic Urban Residence Permits

Both Odessa and Aber should take note! Important urban agglomerations around the world are seeking to exercise more direct control over their own political destinies. Cities like Barcelona are opting to ‘go-it-alone’ throwing off the shackles of taxation levied by greedy remote national governments who profligately redistribute hard won resources to the less fortunate in the interest of political correctness. Following the Brexit capers, great cities like London have begun to appreciate that national political aspirations no longer suit their agendas. The powerful mayors of such ‘primate cities’ are proposing to introduce BURPs – or Biomorphic Urban Residence Permits which will allow them to set their own tailored residence requirements to suit local labour requirements.

Odessa has all the key ingredients for successful independence

Kindergarten Assignments

Today’s kindergarten provides the foundation for social interaction in the future. British educators have long advanced their obsession with streaming people from an ever younger age. Under a recent Church of England directive ‘Let’s Talk Sex’ kindegarten has become a key stage for assessing gender assignment. Respected prelate Msgr Hyperion Ponsonby has thrown the weight of his church behind channeling expectations from an early age. “We are keen to identify deviation in a pre-school environment so that our youngsters do not come up against unrealistic expectations about what they can achieve in life.”

Boys as young as five quite often favour tiaras while young girls prefer to pulverise their male colleagues. These are obvious cases for gender reassignment that should be addressed at the earliest age before abusive patterns set in. “In these early years, skilled psychologists need to analyse each student’s behaviour in minute detail, noting colour predilections, speech patterns and body language. Experts are then able to prescribe a cocktail of drugs which coupled with transitional therapy, will allow youngsters to grow comfortable in their reassigned skins from the earliest possible age.”

My Very Own MonkBatter Recipe

MonkBatter - A Heart Warming Winter soup recipe from the Vikings With the rehabilitation of the Vikings as world travelling emissaries more akin to today’s Lonely Planet backpackers than to the brutal berserkers of past reputation, we have become increasingly keen to emulate some of their cultural values. After exhibitions at the British Museum, everyone is rushing to claim a little bit of Viking heritage for themselves. And we are discovering some astounding facts about this engaging people. New gene tracing technology determines that almost all of us share some of the Viking genetic profile. They travelled extensively and were quick to embrace foreign customs and marry the local folk, if only for short periods. Perhaps all of us have inherited some of their adventurous, touristic and amorous instincts. Some claim that the fascination with the Viking culture is a devious dog-whistle call to defend a way of life that has fallen out of fashion. Others though are more intent on putting back the Barbie into the Barbarian. What better way then to celebrate the holiday season that with some taste of Viking culture. Why not curl up with a tome of Viking legends and a steaming Creagh of MonkBatter? MonkBatter is a delicious heart-warming soup which is surprisingly easy to assemble. Many of the ingredients are already near to hand or available over the internet with little fuss. The Monks themselves are sometimes are hard to source over the internet but there are perfectly adequate vegan alternatives. Tell the kids its sweetmeats for supper and a roar of approval will greet your announcement. Trim off the gristle and unidentifiable dangly bits and plonk in boiling water for 24 hours. Serve when congealed..

ROBO CLERGY !! Soon to Preside at Weddings and Funerals

Across the western world, pulpits stand empty and chalices remain unpolished as increasingly clergy are abandoning their callings in favour of other reality vocations. With the explosion of sexual self-definitions, the landscape has become so complex that celibacy is no longer an attractive or definable option for many. But with his message of religious austerity, ‘in laudem incitandis caelibum’ Pope Francis has dampened the enthusiasm of many who were drawn to Ecclesiasti-Bling and fancy frocks. As a result, with a severe shortage of young and eligible candidates for holy orders evidenced in almost all faiths, the Vatican has joined those turning attention to programming robotic priests. A Sacer-Dot-Bot can be programmed to live an exemplary life. Controversial and unbecoming priestly behaviour will become a thing of the past. The Curia of Cardinals are even mooted the concept of creating a Robo-Pope to lead the church into a more conservative 21st century. “If the Good Lord had had this technology available to him on Day Dot, or Jesus had called 12 Disciplo-Bots there would have been little of the chaotic confusion evident in the early years of the church. Satan wouldn’t have gotten a look-in. Plain sailing in a full-on Christian world” opines Msgr. Aloysius Montesalaami. Meanwhile other religions are looking at similar projects. Down time and extended fasting during Ramadan are easy to accomplish with a Robo-Imam supplied with adequate battery reserves. As for assuming the Lotus position for an eternity - well no problem! As ever, God works in mysterious ways!

Your Horrorscope

Sponsored this week by the First Unmitigated Nigerian Bank of Offshore Odessa (FUNBOO)

Capricorn 21 December-18 January, 18

The unexpected appearance of the Crassula Nebula in your sector suggests that you should start to indulge yourself more while you still have time. Why hover in the flies while others are wallowing in the trough?

Aquarius 19 January - 17 February
Your social life sparkles with promise. But however scintillating your latest idea, it would be better to keep it to yourself. Be wary of those who recommend that you take up Pelfing, which can have a steep initial learning curve. Remember that the housing ladder can also spelunk the depths as well as ascend the heights. You my strike oil down there but at least pack a torch.

Pisces 18 February - 19 March
Look at the bigger picture. The line up in your adventure zone suggests that the time is ripe for a glad-handing, good-will tour of North Korea. You could do this solo, but joining others could make all the difference. .

Aries 20 March - 18 April 1.
Your buoyant energy will light up any room, but the Moon's impending collision with Mars will powerfully influence your career prospects. Perhaps there is no point in undertaking that radical makeover at this stage. Check the lifeline in your left palm to reassure yourself that that you are still with us.

Taurus 19 April - 19 May
Wednesday's spectacular collision of Canopus Major with the Drussillades in your sector suggest that the coming week will be a sizzler. But, as always, you are up for every minute of it. A major windfall could be coming your way, so avoid standing under trees in the stormy weather anticipated.

Gemini 20 May - 20 June, 1.

Venus is exerting long overdue influence on your sector. Gird Up and invest in your appearance. A radical charm offensive can help you achieve many of your long-term objectives. Jettison all those non-performing relationships.

Cancer 21 June - 21 July

Radical lifestyle changes are long overdue. Need we say more. You would be advised to swap your persona for something more in demand and radically alter your diet. You may derive great satisfaction from time spent in a Care Home.

Leo 22 July - 22 August 1.

Modern Politics is all about Give and Take - (that is Giving and Taking Offence). You might be advised to become more politically pro-actives. Surging emotions occasioned by interloping Venus in your sector may suggest that a non-stop diet of CNN news will ultimately draw you into a slough of despond. Why not kick loose, contemplate travel to foreign climes?

Virgo 23 August - 21 September,
Questing Mercury in you sector can encourage you to explore new facets of a relationship. However your selfies are letting you down big time in getting your views across. Perhaps its time for the next big project. There are many lined up keen to to reinforce your talents! Just keep telling yourself that it is not as bad as you thought.

Libra 22 September - 22 October
Flamboyant Jupiter has just entered your leisure/fun zone. Time for a romp! Get creative and put out your feelers. A potent alignment of the tail of Scorpio with your constellation will provide a powerful impetus in your relationship sector if you are lucky enough to survive it. There are no shortcuts to where you are planning to go so pack a very big bag and think of everything beforehand.

Scorpio 23 October - 21 November

If you feel that you are being left behind in the stampede to offshore your life, then you probably are. We can recommend a haven in the Niger delta. Remember - Pride is no substitute for dinner.

Sagittarius 22 Nov. - 20 December

You should relish all those little family interactions around Christmas, however dysfunctional they may be. A friend with a hidden agenda may attempt to persuade you to abandon all scruples. Colouring books may be the key to a happier less scrupulous life.

Word Perfectionment

Floccinaucinihilipilification

- the habit of estimating something as worthless.

British Parliamentarians are keen to distance themselves from the monosyllabic Tweets that are increasingly emanating from lesser political systems.

As a backlash to the DOTUS's predilection for monasyllabic incoherence punctuated by telling silences, vanguard British politicians are adopting more challenging vocabularies to fill the air waves with stunning apercus when addressing complex problems facing our modern lives.

J E R-M's disparagement of Floccinaucinihilipilificators was a timely reminder that the British politicians know lots of stuff that others don't and can provide poetic balance to the monosyllabic grunts and posturings which transfix the media on the other side of the Atlantic.

The #METOO hashtag

It only takes one celebrity to release lurid details of cruel exploitation to unleash a tsunami of #MeToo's

Only too soon we uncover the fact bout rampant individuals like 'Dr Wotziz-Face' who have lived exhausting lives, leaving no stone unturned and a wake of carnage. In many cases it is only after a perpetrator is dead and gone that a multitude of the tragically exploited emerge from the woodwork baring evidence of relentless voracity that has derailed their lives and fully explains their subsequent catastrophic careers. Many celebs are stepping forwards outdo each other with dramatically detailed accounts of relentless exploitation before perpetrators were brought to account.

Now you too can open an account with #Mee2.org and share the lurid details of your experiences with this like-minded crusading community.

Are You Suffering from DOTUS Syndrome?

Are you suffering in silence with symptoms of the deadly DOTUS syndrome?

Dotus is evidenced by an irrepressible urge to tune into the latest nadirs of political behaviour despite the obvious damage to your health and wellbeing. It results in a general self-mortification through addiction to unfolding events and inability to withdraw from constant self-dosing on even the most squalid of news sources.

The side effect symptoms are often severe: a visceral, bilious reaction to any arrangement of blond styled hair; an inexplicable near suicidal aversion to phrases like 'phenomenal', 'so sad', 'fake', 'loser' and 'you gotta think'. Dotus sufferers can be rendered insensate by the distinctive Tweeting sound on a smart phone denoting the arrival of another attack of Dotus. Sadly we at Pharma-Pluss foresee no cure in the near future.

Poutine for the Soul

This year's Poutine Calendar has become an unexpected tear-away success across Brexetia. Copies have been hoovered up with a voracious demand of those keen to see at least one world leader in full control of his faculties. Imagine having Mr June (above) hanging over your bed on a sultry summer night in 2018! Around the world people stand in awe of this rugged individualism, whether he is diving for historic amphorae in the Baltic (January) or combing Irkutsk with the Night Wolves Bikers (May) or perhaps bare fist wrestling with the Beghadelovs of Novgorod (October) Available on Amazon and in every reputable bookshop in Greater Brexetia, while supplies last. The publishing headquarters of Pravda-roo in Minsk have also been flooded with orders worldwide. Suggested retail price £72.

Offshoring our Robots

In their latest review of the FCC new pattern of wealth distribution have emerged and it is clear that robots have joined the 1%. Many robots administer growing stashes of off-shore dosh with impartial efficiency. The concept has many advantages for moneyed elites. Unpaid and untaxed they are now being registered increasingly as 'heads of household'. With extended longevity hardware a robotic Financial Administrator can be updated for eternity and therefore will never create an awkward hiatus when priority realignment or inheritance taxes become due. Multi-skilled robots can both keep accumulated wealth away from both the grasping tax man as well as obviate the fecklessness of succeeding generations of descendants. This will allow hard working entrepreneurs to secure the fruits of their hard labour for eternity.

All governments are quick to agree that there is ABSOLUTELY nothing illegal or underhand about strategies for minimising tax exposure in offshore shelters- especially theirs. In fact most wish that they could attract more of these ventures within their own purview. These havens provide the crucial secrecy that many big corporations require to decimate competition and to conduct complex dealings away from the censure of the fake press. These jurisdictions are the envy of many a politician.

Chancellor Sir Harmon Pillock is a strong supporter of development of a strong 'Offshore Europe' in Greater Bretexia. In the memorable words of his parties mentor, There is No Alternative. "There is absolutely nothing unlawful about wanting to salt away the fruits of you hard labour for a rainy day. Such havens already provide the backbone of the British armaments and other drug industries that are dedicated to securing a safer world for all. Who would call Apple a 'rogue industry' when practically everyone participates in their info network. Who would deny the publicly spirited, and might I add shareholder owned, companies like Google, Amazon and Facebook the opportunity to challenge their competition?"

"Greater Bretexitia is working to garner up our far-flung tapestry of tax havens like Jersey, Isle of Mann, Bermuda and the Caymans and repatriate them to the Mother of all Demoncracy, based in London. It is only obstructive and perfidious Euro-Cavilers that stand in the way of common sense. Our facility will be dedicated to sustaining High-Net-Worth beacons of success. Greater Bretexitia has to up the ante and we can only do this by coming down firmly on creating a Robotic Tax Paradise. Robots should be regarded as our servants, not our masters!"

Sancta Saeculorum Tax Sanctuaries

Even the Royals have Offshored their Payday Loans service

When Sam Stax, the Manager of Odessa One Bank (OOB) received a deposit of 1.8 trillion roubles from a prosperous individual traced back through due diligence to be a cellist in the Russian Imperial Court he could hardly believe his good fortune. "All I usually get to flip is debts incurred for bathroom and kitchen upgrades, so you can imagine that this windfall opened all sorts of perspectives for enticing investment loans." However his moment of good fortune suddenly took a nose-dive when it was discovered that the investment fund had actually been destined for Международный банк Одессы or the BOOB Bank in the Crimea and that there had been an unfortunate mix up in the IBAN Numbers. From Panama to Paradise, tax sanctuaries have resurfaced yet again as a hot news item. Many like Clem de Vere, spokesman for Trojan House International based in the Cayman Islands, have argued for a more assertive laissez faire approach. "I can't see what all the fuss is about! A tax haven is just like any other kind of sanctuary. Our cities are peppered with sanctuaries of one sort or another and we make every effort to continue their survival through tax concessions. Our constitution guarantees freedoms for all deeply held beliefs.

"On the face of it the numbers may look staggering. But the 14 trillion dollars held in tax sanctuaries is only 10-15% of the world GDP. In fact it equates to the total annual GDP of 2 ½ % (or 5 of the 195) of the world's economies And it is not as if this money is lying around in piles, doing nada. And even if it is actually ten times that amount you can be sure that it is actively engaged in aggressive trickledown economics directed by astute investors who know a thing or three."

"These havens have been created thanks to miniscule and highly vulnerable minorities including some of the most talented businessmen and statesmen from around the world. Even Her Majesty the Queen is pleased to count herself among their ranks and claims a substantial investment in the crucial payday loans industry! BrightHouse - Maxxie's Instalooan offers services as a lender of last resort when Coutts Bank lets you down. Yet it modestly does not allude to its Royal patronage."

"We emphasize the it is not illegal to want to minimise the tax paid to authorities. Tax sanctuaries offer a fiscally effective strategy for doing sound business. In these days of soaring indebtedness, Canadians are in the forefront of those racking up unsustainable debts, purchasing luxuries that they can ill afford, like housing, food, clothing and fancy children. Somebody has to offer a service to cover all this spending. Somebody has to be the creditor of last resort. The burden of lending falls upon a tiny but stoic minority. These are the folks who insist on remaining fiscally responsible and step forward to underwrite the debts generated by the great 99% mass of the feckless."

Euro-Fishing

Perfidious cold fish within the so-called 'euro-parliament', (or the child of all parliaments), in Brussels have somehow legislated a 'cool offensive' involving the relocation of Bretexitian fish stocks from the North Seas to areas around

The Paradise Papers reveal the even the Queen occasionally dabbles in a spot of Fishing

Iceland where they will remain under Euro-management. In their place Portuguese Man-O-Wars and American sharks have migrated to Bretexitian waters testing border authorities to the limit. Once more plucky Brexitiens are being Blitzed from all sides!

Let's Talk Trillions !

It seems only yesterday we were applauding people like Bill Gates for becoming the world's youngest billionaires. But that field filled up fast with young contenders keen to flash their 'dark cash'. Now however our planet boasts up to 11 contenders vying to reach the coveted Trillionaire status! Bezos, Gates, Buffet and Walton are all prime candidates for this enviable laurel. But continued access to Bretexitia's far flung tax sanctuaries is key to the success of these questors. The Bretexitia 2030 vision is to be everyones favorite Offshore destination. Bretexitian economists are concerned that other competing countries like Canada with GDP's of a mere $1.6 trillion may be snapped up by these plutocrats and repurposed to suit their personal financial ambitions.

The War on Terror

Over the past decade and a half the War on Terror has cost at least 5.5 trillion dollars. Initiated by the 9/11 World Trade Centre catastrophe the WOT equates to a 9/11 event occurring every week over the intervening 17 year period. And Brexiteers complain about sending a piddling 350 million pounds to perfidious Europe every week! The ceaseless WOT is worth over 20 Remoans weekly!

Church of the Last Trump

Odessa's Church of the Last Trump Offers a Warm Reception to all New-Comers

The local congregation of the Church of the Last Trump has enjoyed an unprecedented explosion of new members who are crowding its halls to capacity. Pastor Pym Pillpot cannot believe his good fortune. "We now claim over 3,000 congregants in the Odessa area alone and that does not include our Outreach Programme on Facebook." COLT is now obliged to run 3 chant-alongs every Sunday when the congregants build up into paroxysms of delight as they review favoured litanies like 'Lock 'er Up My Lord' and 'Drain My Swamp O King of Heaven' Tina Turnip, a frequent attendee, often takes in all three standing-room-only Sunday rallies as well as regular weekday sing-alongs. "In these Last Days, instead of sitting festering over our tiny smartphones fretting about the world's problems, it is refreshing to be able to enjoy realtime face buzz with a large group of foaming zealots and crest on communal sublimated anger."

Mirror Magic

You should always endeavour to put a positive spin on your selfie image. A revolutionary new Smirror Pro, or SMIRP is an ingenious new product which becomes reflective only when the user smiles. Designed by Danish genius Pilf Snvv-Brk, the idea behind the mirror is that smiling, even if faked, can make us genuinely feel better (known as FFRH - Facial Feedback Reinforcement Hypothesis) Laughter can improve immune function and lengthen even the most miserable of lives. The SMIRP has a screen fitted with a camera that uses facial recognition to tell when an individual is smiling. This turns the screen reflective. Fitted to your smartphone it can be supplied with a facial enhancing APP to ensure that you look your best at all times.

Robotic Lawyers A 'No Brainer'

In the very near future artificial intelligence will be used routinely to assemble cases against criminal malefactors. Robotic intelligence can scan and assemble millions of documents without a moments hesitation, repetition or boredom. Lex-Bot explains, "The current system no longer works smoothly. Cases have become much more complex in a world where everybody has a grievance against his neighbour. But only too soon human beings become bored and distracted when presented with the challenge of sifting through the documents. Normally large numbers of barristers are brought in at vast expense to interrogate myriad documents and make up a load of stuff. However they then have to talk to each other afterwards at huge expense and that is where the whole system breaks down. With a Lexi-Bot you can have the entire case in one location, controlled by a single cyber-mind."

Robots can reduce the time required to assemble a watertight case by up to 90%. This will mean that in future courts will be able to entertain ten times as many cases running simultaneously without over-taxing the system, providing a huge bonanza for the world's major legal houses. The deliberations of such bodies as 'special counsels' will become a snap, and instead of painstaking sifting through the documents over a period of months sending the public into a coma while awaiting the next blockbuster bombshells, compelling directives can be assembled in minutes along with guidelines as to appropriate judgements or recompense. In this new litigious horizons everyone will be able to step forward and claim to be a victim.

Will Greenland Become the Next Florida?

With seal levels expected to rise between 3-4 metres next year, the market for Florida swampland has deteriorated significantly. Savvy Florida developers have turned their attention to Greenland which is rapidly emerging from centuries of glacial stagnation. Catch marketing phrases like 'Go Greener with Greenland' have attracted a lot of interest to these shores which once proved such a magnet to the earlier real estate ventures of Leif the Lucky (970-1020) He snapped up the prime property 5 centuries before Columbus! Modern 'Luckyville' boasts unrivalled views of the northern lights. For those who recall those halcyon days before their Florida home unexpectedly went off-shore, a large nature Everglades/theme park stocked with genetically modified aligators has been created on vast prime swamplands now emerging after millennia under a mantle of snow.

Leif's father, Eric the Red, was a natural conservative and established impeccable credentials for this emerging new Red State.

SPLUNCHBOX.COM

Let's face it sport is really all about scoring a cute partner. A new twist in the on-line dating phenomenon has given rise to a new designation of urban life - the Spornosexual. Splunchbox.com, catering to this new niche in the market, is the latest web-match site to help pair up those with nothing else much on their minds. Spornosexuals are young men and women whose lives revolve around their local gym. Here they choose to present themselves defiantly 'in the box'. They may hold down dreary daytime jobs but as soon as they are released from daily purgatory they hasten to the box where, embracing treadmills and mega hoick tires, their spirits soar. It soon becomes a life obsession. When they drag themselves home depleted from their workout, they will spend sleepless nights devising fiendish new routines of torquemada-torture. They paw through top-shelf magazines and access exclusive encrypted websites, slaving to get their next fix in pursuits that narrowly skirt Geneva Convention on Cruel and Inhumane Self-Treatment.

No Brain - No Gain

It's another world first and giant leap for mankind! A team of surgeons in Harbin, China led by a renowned Italian master-surgeon, Surgio Cadavero, have successfully transplanted a human head onto another body. Both patients are reported as doing well - or at least as well as they were doing before this miraculous life-enhancing op. Not only was the operation a total success but all left-over parts are scheduled to be assembled into a Beta version. 'Nothing goes to waste in my kitchen' the Doctor chortles with evident pleasure. Dr Cadavero freely admits, 'I'm into life extension. I take your best asset whether it is between the ears or that body you have laboured so long to perfect and infuse it with a new holistic

Conspiracy Theories are a CIA Plot

Daily lives have become transfixed by a plethora of messages that set out the truly dire state of the world. How could rational people have actually elected the cast of looneys that dominate modern politics? Pro gun rights activists around the world are increasingly pointing out the defects of the systems and emphasising the need to be vigilant, gun up and deny those who are keen to take away their rights and enslave them. We have created a helpful list of some of the most prevalent theories cresting at the moment.

- 1) Finland does not exist - that socialist haven is a Scandi Noir myth
- 2) JK Rowling is actually a bot based in Minsk
- 3) Kim Yung Un is an employee of the Clinton Foundation.
- 4) Theresa May has four body doubles but they have been unable to identify the original.
- 5) Gun crime is ridiculously under-reported in Britain because the police are instructed to register fire arms offences as incidents involving 'shooties'.
- 6) The Pulitzer Prize winning novel, My Pet Goat contains a coded message from the Pentagon which details the Bush strategy for staging 9/11.
- 7)The Hollywood Access Tape actually contains the dubbed voice of James Comey.
- 8) And as for the Grassy Knoll, well don't even get us started!!

Air Pollution Shown to Improve Sporting Performance

Recent studies published by the American EPA have proven conclusively that Air Pollution can be beneficial to human health. These findings are beginning to resonate around the world with Chinese and Indian environmentalists breathing a deep sigh of relief that they will remain at the forefront of healthy engineered environments. An EPA spokes-bot explains, "It's not rocket science. For millions of years human beings used to hang out playing cards in smoke-filled huts while dinosaurs rampaged around outside. We've naturally evolved a resistant gene which needs the challenge of such adverse conditions." Sportsmen, in particular, should be keen to build up their stamina and maximise immunities. There are good reasons to believe that the continued stellar performance of Chinese athletes is directly attributable to their bracing environmental challenges. Statistics produced by the Heartland Institute appear to indicate that in many cases the air in modern cities is 'too clean' to effectively build up the immune systems of urbanites. Heartland spokesperson Dr Morefor Profett decries all the scare stories about deteriorating lungs, heart and brain health. "Modern air is way too clean for optimum health. Studies have proven conclusively that if you molly-coddle human life forms the immune system tends to atrophy and become indolent, we call this phenomenon effe-senescence," he explained to a receptive audience at the American Association for the Advancement of Scientific Science (AA-ASS), one of the world's best funded scientific bodies. "After all, it turns out everybody needs a bit of immune-system-boosting dirt in their lungs."
